ACLU making inquiry into student and whisker question at Carmel and King City High Schools

The Monterey chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union at a directors' meeting Monday night voted to make an inquiry into long-hair controversies at Carmel and King City High Schools.

Three boys from Carmel High and one from King City High appeared at the meeting, contending infringement of personal freedom.

Dr. Russell Williams of Carmel, president of the local ACLU chapter, said that the organization's attorney, Miss Patricia Lane, was discussing the matter with school board members and Carmel High Principal Arthur Gumbrell.

Pres. Clayton Neill of the Carmel District school board said that he felt there has been no change in policy. "There was a dress code when I came on the board six years ago," he added.

"Wherever you draw the line, there's always someone on the other side," Neill commented. "I feel it's much ado about not much of anything."

Charles Stewart, an attorney and ACLU director, said that he felt the problem is misunderstanding. "We're inquiring of the school board as to what it is doing; we don't intend to jump on anybody."

NO BEARDS, MOUSTACHES

Dr. Harris Taylor, superintendent of schools, Tuesday morning said that a reasonable position has been taken at the high school. He said that the community has to decide what is reasonably acceptable.

Present policy at the high school is that "beards and moustaches are out," Dr. Taylor explained. "The hair problem will be looked at on an individual basis, involving over-all behavior."

He said that about 10 boys had been referred to Principal Gumbrell and asked to shave off their beards and moustaches. All but one has complied, he added.

Dr. Taylor said that expulsion has not been threatened, as some of the boys contended. He added that hidden in the background is the point that students can be suspended for 10 days or assigned to continuation school.

COURT CASES

He pointed out that a number of court cases, particularly a case tried in the Massachusetts supreme court and two cases in Riverside County, Calif., upheld schools in "acceptable haircut cases for students."

Historically by law, the superintendent explained, schools have been given the right to discipline and to "act in a parentish capacity."

He repeated that the community will have to decide what it wants. "What would happen if youngsters would show up in monks' robes?" he asked. "Where is a reasonable middle ground?"

The new Carmel High School "Student Handbook" says the following about dress: "Students are expected to attend school in a manner of dress that dignifies the role of a student. Neatness and attractiveness of clothing worn by a well-groomed individual help considerably in successfully meeting one's responsibilities in his day-to-day work." Seven items for boys follow, including "reasonable hair dress or style or length."

"Extremes in dress will result in a conference with the assistant principal, and students may be sent home to change. Remember: Teachers as well as employers appreciate the effort you make in appearing correctly dressed and neatly groomed," the handbook adds.

New camera shop, beauty parlor, cleaners are new CV businesses

Many new businesses and new locations for established businesses have changed the face of Carmel Valley Village recently.

Things Camera, owned and operated by Leo Diner, who has a long professional background in "things camera," has opened in the Giuseppe Building. Diner, who has a home on Middle Canyon Rd., owns Leo Diner, films, located in San Francisco.

From a visual standpoint, the exceptional photomurals of Carmel Valley which adorn the walls of "Things Camera" are well worth a special stop to see.

Mary Clarke's Shop, featuring waxed fruits and candies, has moved from its location in the Valley Shopping Center to the location formerly occupied by Henriette Interiors.

The Witches Hut, a new hair styling salon, is located in the Plaza Linda Building across the courtyard from the restaurant. Beauty operators who are staffing the new salon are Martin Moss, Penny Haller and Janene Sclawy.

The shop formerly owned by Janene Sclawy in Giuseppe's Building has been opened under the ownership and management of Joie Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hall who have the adjacent Chevron station.

CVPOA to hear road chief

A general membership meeting of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association will be held on Thursday, Sept. 28, in the multi-purpose room of Tularcitos School at 8 p.m.

Bruce McClain, of the County Road Dept., will meet with the group to discuss the status of the plan lines on the Carmel Valley Rd. Prior to the meeting members will have received a newsletter which will outline the history of the proposed four lanes for the Valley Rd.

Residents will also be urged in the newsletter to sign up for the installation of natural gas to speed up the PG&E proposal to extend lines to the Village, adjacent areas, and through Robles del Rio. The deadline set by PG&E is Nov. 5 and as of last week, 65 more signups were needed to begin construction in time for service this winter.

At last week's board meeting of the CVPOA, the matter of slope density in Carmel Valley came up for discussion as it has numerous times over the past two years.

Members of the CVPOA, which was the impetus behind the development of the Spangle Slope Density Plan, questioned the practicality of the recently proposed revised slope plan released by a committee from the planning department. Some members regarded it as just another delay in the long battle to have a control formula put on the size of hillside building lots.

George Brown, a former president of the CVPOA, requested information on how much increase in population could be expected by the adoption of the revised formula offered by the planning department. This plan does not require lots larger than one acre until the slope has reached a 20% grade as against the Spangle formula which increases lot size at a grade over 5%.

The board voted to have a committee made up of Doyt Early, Frank Bresk and John Otter to study the revised formula in detail. All three men have worked on the slope density problem in the past.

Benefit BBQ planned for family of Kathy Ocampo; trust fund set

Every organization in Carmel Valley has been invited to send two representatives to a luncheon meeting at the Cottage Inn tomorrow (Sept. 14) to complete plans for the benefit barbecue for the Kathy Ocampo Fund.

The barbecue is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 30, at the Trail and Saddle Club, and will run from 2 to 9 to give everyone a chance to attend, whether it is a day of work or not.

Steak and all the trimmings will be served to adults and children alike with the price set at $2.50 and $1.25 for kids.

Most items for the benefit have been donated and tomorrow's meeting is to determine what kind of help each group would like to offer on the barbecue.

The fund has been established to help Mary and Sal Ocampo with the many expenses incurred during Kathy's long illness. Kathy died on Sept. 5 after a valiant battle against a brain tumor.

Tillie Knight is in charge of the trust fund at the Valley branch of the Bank of America, Anyone wishing to contribute may contact her on arrangements.

The Rhyming Philosopher

J. Mortimer Meek was a commonplace gent
Who pampered his wife like a lady;
He studied her wishes and never gave vent
To temper or anything shady.

He pulled out her chair when she sat down to eat,
And held open doors like a gallant;
Remembered her birthdays with some surprise treat
And gifts, which was his special talent.

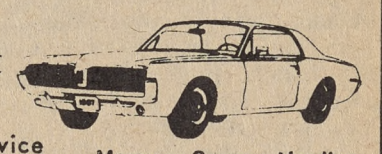

But strangely enough his good wife became bored
And took his attentions for granted;
Eloping one night with a guy she adored
Whose brains were by muscles supplanted.

They're living together, he treats her like dirt,
But, oh, he's so handsome and brawny,
With long curly hair and an over-ripe shirt,
And plays his guitar loud and corny.

The moral of this unpalatable yarn
Is: Follow the rules to the letter
So horses and women who bolt from the barn
Will find they're replaced by one better.

Sky-high property assessments

The sky-high re-assessments of property in the Carmel area are shocking. In many cases, the resulting tax burden will more than double. This is inflation, grim and dangerous.

We know there are retired people on fixed incomes being forced to sell their homes as a result. Inflation has hacked away at their incomes until they can't take another blow such as a giant tax jump. Some are having to give up homes they have lived in for years and to move they're not sure where.

This may sound like a sob story from a poverty pocket, instead of Carmel. But the process of Carmel's sliding into more of a tourist town keyed to the wealthy will be speeded by such inflation.

The county assessor points out he's strait-jacketed by the system – by state law. At least every 10 years he is charged with bringing property on the assessment rolls up to 25% of market value. Population and other unpleasant California pressures, plus the shrinking dollar, conspire to escalate price tags on property continually.

The governmental machinery is stacked against those who want to protest their increased assessments. A formal "application for reduction in assessment" must be filed on a designated form by Sept. 15. "The law presumes that the assessor has properly performed his duty and has assessed all propertues fairly and upon an equal basis," declares the board of supervisors' instructions. "The effect of this presumption is to impose upon the applicant the burden of proving that the property in question has not been correctly assessed."

POOR LITTLE TAXPAYER

This means that the poor little taxpayer must gather his evidence and make his appearance before the board of supervisors when it sits as a board of equalization, to present his case. He would have to sleuth out prices which other houses in the area, preferably comparable, have sold for recently and present documented proof. Unless you're an expert in the field, this takes considerable doing. It also takes a certain talent, not to mention time and trouble, to make an appearance before the august body of the county government.

The county assessor, of course, has the privilege of rebuttal, which it's obvious he would do to the hilt, to defend his case.

Result: Practically everybody, even those who feel their property has been unfairly assessed, gives up and unhappily accepts fate.

The supervisors were asked for the courtesy of holding a meeting as the board of equalization in Carmel. But they are too busy – so protestors have to travel to Salinas for the equalization hearing Sept. 20.

Alarmed by mounting tax problems, the Carmel Citizens Committee will hold a public forum of governmental representatives next Tuesday at Sunset Center in Carmel. Because this is a long-time respected group, we suspect constructive suggestions and some course of action will evolve.

Economy in government is an obvious element to promote. But the dilemma is that inflation spirals costs and growth requires more services.

The possibilities of special tax relief for the retired need special study. If such church-sponsored luxurious retirement communities as Carmel Valley Manor receive tax exemption, it's fair for special treatment of other retired people. A variety of suggestions are being made.

RELIEF FOR RETIRED?

Exemption from school taxes for those 65 and over is proposed. Another idea, put forward by Councilman Gunnar Norberg, is for no assessment raises unless a home is sold. It would apply only to one home if individuals owned several.

Effective action would have to be at State level. But perhaps the impetus could start in a respected community like Carmel, which has an above average number of retired residents.

Dismaying tax prospects

Editor, The Outlook:

The current higher taxes (property, school, Federal and State), and the probability of future increases present a dismaying prospect to the citizen taxpayer.

The CARMEL CITIZENS COMMITTEE is therefore holding a Town Meeting to discuss this question of higher taxes, their effect on the taxpayer and what can be done about the situation, with special emphasis on property taxes.

The meeting will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 19,1967, at 4 p.m. in the Sunset Center Auditorium, 9th and San Carlos, Carmel. All interested residents of the Monterey Peninsula and vicinity are urged to attend.

A panel of gentlemen representative of the various levels of taxation, expert in their fields, has accepted our invitation to come and present brief statements of not over 5 minutes each, and to answer subsequent questions.

The Panel: Hon. Steve Grant, mayor of Carmel, City taxes; Donald P. Stewart, county assessor, Assessments; Clayton Neill, Jr., president Carmel School District Board, School Taxes; Willard Branson, county supervisor, County taxes; and Donald L. Grunsky, state senator, State taxes.

Congressman Burt Talcott and State Assemblyman Alan Pattee were unable to accept our invitation to come and give us the benefit of their views as to Federal and States taxes.

We will also have the president of the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Assoc., Mr. Harold Arnot, present to give us a 5 minute presentation of their purposes and program.

We trust this meeting will shed some light on a subject which is of deep concern to all of us, and hope these officials will absorb some ideas for tax relief.

Carmel Citizens Committee

"Barefoot in the Park" is fun and fast

"Barefoot in the Park" is a very slight comedy, rather delicate and to be handled with care. It doesn't always get this treatment at the Studio Theatre where it opened last weekend. But the lines are clever and Director Mike Keller has set a fast pace for his well-cast players.

It has to do with a sophisticated child bride who accuses her young husband of being stuffy because he won't go barefoot in the park in mid-winter. Kind of crazy when you come to think of it, but fun.

Hilary Teague has the ultra-cute role of Corie, the bird-brained bride, down pat. She belts out all her lines with great relish, but we wish she wouldn't mouth all her words quite so emphatically.

Gertrude Chappell as the girl's worried (as well she might be) mother also makes unbecoming faces to get laughs. Most of the time she looks chagrined.

This is light comedy, not a farce, and the ladies might do well to relax and take things a bit easier.

Bob Lotz as an aging Bohemian whom Corie teams up incongruously with her staid mother, does a good job. He possesses an eloquent giggle which sounds charmingly spontaneous.

Dick Felty has a bright bit as a sarcastic telephone man and so does John Sullivan in the briefest of roles as a delivery man, who after trudging up six flights of stairs to Corie's dizzy apartment, is completely speechless.

A nice surprise is Alan Yorty as the young husband. Seen at the Studio last spring and summer as a very skinny toga-clad Protean (whatever that is) in "A Funny Thing, etc.," one would never suspect him to be the intelligent actor he undoubtedly is.

He also looks just fine in long pants and uses admirable restraint in delivering his lines. He is clearly a leading man to be treasured.

The one set of Corie's apartment before and after its decorative transformation is fine (we especially like the beat-up refrigerator). It was designed and lighted by Bob Evans, Jr. Stage managers are Carl Mountford and Alan Williams.

We might add that the audience had a great time, and that the rare roast-beef at the Studio restaurant is wonderful.

Monterey Jazz Festival sets 5 concerts for weekend event

The 10th Monterey Jazz Festival will get under way with the Friday night concert beginning at 9 p.m. One of the features of this program will be jazz violinists both from here and abroad.

The Saturday afternoon concert will begin at 1:30 and feature the traditional blues program. Among those scheduled to perform at the "Big Blues Bag" are B.B. King, T-Bone Walker, the Clara Ward Singers and Big Brother and the Holding Company with blues-rock singer Janice Joplin.

A new feature of this year's festival is the appearance of a number of European jazz artists. The Ambrosetti Quintet from Lugana, Switzerland, will perform on Saturday evening. The quintet is highly regarded in Europe but has never played in the United States. They will be joined by Nils-Henning Orstad Pederson, famed Danish bassist.

On Sunday afternoon (concert time 1:30 p.m.) a new jazz suite composed for the Monterey Jazz Festival by Yugoslavia's Miljenko Prohaska will be performed by the Don Ellis Orchestra under Prohaska's baton. An additional international note on Sunday will be the appearance of Hungarian guitarist Gabor Szabo, who now lives in this country. He will bring a quintet to the Festival.

Sunday night's concert, wrapping up the Jazz Festival, will begin at 7:15 p.m. and feature Carmen McCrae, the Earl "Fatha" Hines quartet with Bud Johnson, Dizzy Gillespie's quintet and Woody Herman in a world premiere of new music.

MPMA sponsors trip to the City

The 21st municipal outdoor art festival, sponsored by the San Francisco Arts Commission at Civic Center, and a visit to an exhibit of drawings and prints of Sam Francis, Northern California artist, at the San Francisco Museum of Art will be featured. Lunch will be at the Jack Tar Hotel.

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art sponsors this tour for its members at a cost of $8.50 and for non-members at $9.50. The bus leaves from Carmel High School at 8 a.m. The tour returns to Monterey area about 8 p.m. Reservations must be made before Wednesday, Sept. 20.

Jeffers play at Forest

A concert reading of the play, "Dear Judas," written by Carmel's famous late poet, Robinson Jeffers, will be presented by Berkeley's Labyrinth Theatre next Sunday afternoon in the outdoor Forest Theater.

Sponsored by the city of Carmel, as part of its annual Forest Theater summer series, the "Dear Judas" program will start at 2 p.m. Admission is free.

Presenting the role of the tormented Judas will be Eric Vaughn, the Labyrinth Theater's producing director, who is a widely-known authority on the poetic dramas of Robinson Jeffers.

Presenting the role of Jesus will be Glenn-Charles Musagetes, while the interpretation of Mary will be given by Jill Basey.

Carmel Currents

Appreciation night

By MARJORY LLOYD

APPRECIATION NIGHT... Keynote of last week's council meeting was appreciation. This happy sentiment flowed from and to the city. The council expressed appreciation for Adm. C.W. Fisher and Peter R. Dyer's service to the city.

How greatly Dr. Edward Chapman appreciates Carmel was expressed in a letter accompanied by a gift of money. Sgt. Del Wermuth of the Carmel Police Dept.; Robert L. Little, the city's insurance carrier; and Sunset Manager Cole Weston garnered appreciation, too.

STANDING VOTE... Rising to their feet, city councilmen passed the resolution of appreciation for the contributions of Fisher and Dyer to the development of Sunset Center. Both were members of the citizens committee which developed uses for the municipal cultural and community center; served on the Sunset Commission established to operate and further develop this facility; also on the successor to this body, the Carmel Cultural Commission, from which they recently resigned.

Each was lauded by individual councilmen. Noted was the fact that both are still serving the city. Fisher will conduct a tax seminar at Sunset Center on Sept. 19. Dyer is a member of the Harrison Memorial Library Board.

Their proud and smiling spouses were appreciated too. Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Dyer left the council dais with bouquets of white carnations, a token of the city's appreciation for the many evenings they spent without their husbands who were "contributing immeasurably" to the development of Sunset Center.

UNPRECEDENTED GIFT... Dr. Edward Chapman, in appreciation of what the City of Carmel contributes to his and his wife's life, presented the city with a check for $82.43. This sum represents the additional property tax the Chapmans would pay if they lived inside the city limits instead of just outside on Carmel Point, an unincorporated area of Monterey County.

"Carmel is probably the smallest community in the United States with a world-wide reputation for beauty, culture and climate," stated the physician( who formerly lived in Colorado Springs, in the letter which accompanied the check.) He stressed that he did not agree with his friends on the Point who oppose annexation to Carmel because of the city's higher tax rate, yet use its facilities.

"We would like to be residents of Carmel... We are proud of the city and are no longer content to remain free riders," Dr. Chapman declared. He pointed out that the Chapmans use Carmel's streets daily when shopping and going to the post office; also enjoy the Forest Theater, Carmel Beach and Sunset Center, all municipal facilities for which, as non-residents, they are not taxed to maintain.

He concluded with, "This check can be put to any public use the council wishes." Unanimously councilmen decided the Chapmans would get the greatest enjoyment and the city the greatest benefit by placing the $82.43 in the fund to buy trees to beautify Carmel streets and maintain the city's urban forest. Then they authorized a letter of appreciation for the Chapmans.

POLICE OFFICER APPRECIATED... Councilman William Sefton, the city's police commissioner, brought to the council's appreciation that Police Sgt. Del Wermuth had been commended by the Monterey County Peace Officers Association for his work which led to the solving of 80 robberies and thefts both inside and outside the city.

Plans announced for festival at Carmel Mission

MARIACHIS, music and dancing are always an important part of the Carmel Mission Fiesta, to be held this year on Oct. 8. Guests and participants alike are invited to wear Fiesta dress.

A tradition now nearly 200 years old will be revived Sunday, Oct. 8, at the Carmel Mission Basilica as some 8,000 persons join in the celebration of the Fiesta de San Carlos de Borromeo.

The first fiesta was held in 1770 after the founding of the Mission San Carlos de Borromeo, and honored the patron saint of the mission, Since that time the fiesta has been held annually, sometimes on a pitifully small scale, but since 1964 in an increasingly grand manner.

The Most Rev. Harry A. Clinch, D.D., auxiliary bishop of the Fresno-Monterey diocese and pastor of the Carmel Mission Basilica, will celebrate a high mass at 11 o'clock, following which there will be a ceremonial procession in the courtyard, and then the fun will begin.

There will be a chicken barbecue, tacos, enchiladas, soft drinks, and a host of entertaining games.

Strolling mariachis, a group of Spanish dancers, and an assortment of soloists will provide entertainment for the adults, while teenagers will have a dance of their own in the parish hall.

There is no admission charge for the fiesta. Dinner prices are $2 per adult and $1 per child (in case you wonder why no age limits are posted, it's because of this: the price of the ticket determines the size of the portion!). In the spirit of ecumenism, all persons of the Monterey Peninsula and their guests are invited to attend.

Bronze plaque to mark Carmel Museum of Art, formal opening Saturday 8 p.m.

At the formal opening of the Carmel Museum of Art on Saturday evening, a bronze plaque will be unveiled in the arched entry called Founders Court.

On the plaque will be the engraved names of all members who have donated $1,000 or more, or the equivalent in works of art, to the museum dedicated to the collection, preservation and presentation of the work of artists who from 1875 to 1945 belonged to the Carmel-Monterey art colony.

Included in the names on the plaque will be those of Samuel F.B. Morse, Leonard K. Firestone, Justin Dart, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson T. Nowell, Charles H. Russell, Charles Crocker, William Crocker, Anthony Russell White, Mrs. Anthony Russell White, Alexis White, Mrs. Burton Boundey, Mrs. Myron Oliver, Mrs. Jean Abel, Mrs. Theodore Wores, Dr. Ben Shenson, Dr. Jess A. Shenson, Mrs. Louis Shenson, and Caldwell, Banker and Company. The name of the late Mrs. Henry Potter Russell will also appear on the plaque and two anonymous designations.

The 8 p.m. champagne opening will permit museum members and specially invited guests to see the first exhibition of the museum.

Curator Kent Seavey has selected a comprehensive show of work of artists who made the Monterey Peninsula a nationally-known art center during the period the museum covers. Following the opening, the museum will be open to the public free of charge.

The Carmel Museum of Art is a non-profit institution supported by tax deductible donations in the form of memberships. All members will be honored guests at the opening. Guests will also include persons on the Monterey Peninsula and throughout the state who are particularly interested in California art history.

Information concerning memberships, which start at $10, may be obtained by telephoning 624-1424 or at the Carmel Museum of Art situated in the remodeled former Wells Fargo Bank on Dolores St. north of Sixth Ave.

Tularcitos parents hear new principal's plans

Tularcitos parents had a chance last night to hear about the new programs being planned for the school year by George Gustafson, the new principal.

Two means of placement will be used in locating youngsters in their classes, according to Gustafson. Performance will be used as a guideline but students will also be placed according to their learning styles and the teachers' teaching styles.

On next Wednesday, staggered sessions will begin and Gustafson explained the rationale and reason behind the plan. In order to do the optimum job of teaching it is necessary to teach smaller numbers of children at the crucial time, and increase the length of time spent with each pupil. Staggered times will be introduced for fourth, fifth and sixth grade students as well as the lower grades. "Teach more and better with fewer," was his summation.

The reason foreign languages are being added at the fourth grade level is because students at this age have the rudiments of English language and grammar established and one language can be built and strengthen with the other. Spanish or French will be taught back to back with English, 25 minutes of each.

A fourth kindergarten class has been added as well as another teacher who will operate on a flexible schedule.

Choral Society needs new voices

The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society, founded and directed with much success in the past by John Gosling, begins rehearsals for the 1967-68 season under his successor, Jan deJong, this week.

Registration and rehearsals were scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 13 at Fremont Junior High School, Kimball Ave., Seaside. Placement auditions for new members will be held during registration from 7 to 8 p.m. this week and succeeding weeks.

Rehearsals begin immediately for the Festival of Renaissance Music to be performed at First Methodist Church, Pacific Grove, Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

From 80 to 100 members are expected to return after summer vacation but military reassignments always deplete the ranks and new members are welcome, Mrs. John Beahan, president, has announced.

Carmel Currents

More Carmel annexations

By MARJORY LLOYD

PLEASE LET US BELONG ... The picturesque, thatch-roofed cottage near Carmel Mission may, in due time, lie within the city limits. Carl B. Bensberg, owner of the cottage, asked the city council to be allowed to annex his property to Carmel. He was joined in his annexation request by a group of neighbors. They are Adele and Howard McFann, Brig. Gen. Robert P. Williams and Mrs. Williams, Carl and Ann Welchner, Clyde Herr, Susan Pride, Margaret Thomas, Beatrice B. and George J. Garner.

The council approved their request to start annexation procedure. The petitioners' property lies either in the Walker or Mission tracts on either side of Rio Rd. Some of the property is on Lasuen Dr., the street bordering Carmel Mission.

FLANDERS ESTATE PLAN ... The firm of Hall and Goodhue, architects and planners, has been retained to plan development of the Flanders Estate acreage on the southeasterly boundary of Carmel. In a letter to the council, Gordon Hall, one of the firm's partners, asked that zoning of this parcel be delayed until he could present a site plan.

Consequently, the council did not hold their Sept. 6 public hearing on this zoning matter. They will await planning commission consideration of Hall and Goodhue's plans for the property, the canyon part of which, a representative of the Flanders Estate has indicated, may be deeded to the city as green belt in conformance with the Carmel General Plan.

PREZONING ... The council referred back to the planning commission an ordinance on prezoning of territory to be annexed to the city. Desired is possible amendment providing no less restrictive zoning than existing county zoning at the time annexation procedure is initiated. Such designation would prevent a zoning void during which undesirable development might be permissible.

CURFEW LAW ... Second reading and adoption of an emergency curfew law was delayed last week for a special meeting to be called by Mayor Stephen Grant.

"We have got along for 50 years without such a law. I would like a little more definition of the word 'curfew'," Councilman Eben Whittlesey demurred. He wished to know the extent to which citizens would be deprived of the use of streets by the new legislation.

Councilman Sefton stated that emergency conditions arise today that were unheard of during the past 50 years. Potential emergencies requiring a curfew could arise this month, as they did last summer, he remarked. Presumably he was referring to influxes of visitors for special events.

Whittlesey was traveling in Mexico when the ordinance had first reading.

AN HOUR OF TV ... City Clerk Hugh Bayless, at last week's council meeting, read aloud a 14-page ordinance establishing controls for granting a franchise to any television cable company. It took an hour to finish with councilmen in the role of proofreaders.

Councilman Herbert Blanks said it had taken him and Councilman Sefton since December, 1966, to draw up this ordinance with the help of City Attorney William B. Burleigh. During this period, he and Sefton had received complaints about the present television cable service in Carmel. Expressed in 20 telephone calls, one letter and a petition was dissatisfaction due to picture and sound interruption and distortion; cost of the service in Carmel as compared to nearby cities; and the price of installation.

Among its many controls, the lengthy ordinance provides that the city, in future, may terminate unsatisfactory cable service following a public hearing.

At the end of Bayless's reading marathon, the council approved the new law's first reading.

"I hope it's the last," quipped Blanks.

Carmel Martin Jr., attorney for Alarm Corp., present holders of the television cable franchise in Carmel, told the council that the company wishes to provide a modern, up-to-date cable system, "but we will have to come above ground to provide service the same or better than any other in the county." Present service is underground.

Martin indicated that, if the city accepts the cable service application of Alarm Corp., "we will do an excellent job." The council will consider the application at a later meeting.

JUNK SCULPTORS' DELIGHT? ... The City of Carmel wishes to get rid of five surplus items at the highest price possible. They are a 1935 Adams motor grader, an old and heavy tape recorder, a Conelrad monitor, a Motorola handy-talker and a World War II adding machine.

City Clerk Hugh Bayless suggests the tape recorder might be useful as an anchor for a small boat. The U.S. government has discontinued use of the Conelrad. The talker transmits but cannot receive messages.

THE LATIN LOOK ... After a month south of the border, Councilman Whittlesey returned to civic duties with a new look. He is sporting a moustache which gives him the appearance of a dashing cabellero ... and he has a fine tan, too.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Wiley of Valle Vista Rd. entertained at a family gathering recently which was the occasion to reveal the engagement of their granddaughter, Artha Jean Slangerup to Stephan Whitman Jackson.

Artha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Slangerup of Alameda. Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Prentis Ward Jackson of Twain Harte. His parents drove to Carmel Valley for the announcement party, accompanied by their younger son, David.

Artha and Steve plan an early summer wedding.

"Salud Fiesta"

"Twas the day after Fiesta on Del Fino and Pilot
The litter remaining resembled a riot.
The ghost of Tiburcio surveyed the scene
Where booths manned by Senors and Senoritas had been...."

If indeed the colorful bandit hero of early days had been observing the Fiesta he no doubt noted and approved the gay flags placed about the Village by the Merchants Committee.. joined the audience who sang birthday greetings to two hard-working residents, Kathryn Walker and Rex Pryer, who contributed so much to the success of the day.

...Chuckled as three ponies from Sal Ocampo's Pony Ride stampeded across the grounds and through the Garden Club's Tiki Hut... admired the quick thinking of Mary Skalyo who substituted hot coffee for iced cider.

...Wished that he had ridden with a vaquero as handsome as Mal Tavares in his mustache and rust velvet suit... applauded the weary 'Horsemen' who gave such outstanding support to the street dance after their long day's show... sighed as lovely ladies in costume such as Mary Ann Yuma, Carolyn Wolters, and Harriet Busick danced by.

...Dodged the waterfall of rain water as the tarp above the Fire Dept. Ladies Auxiliary booth gave way... noted the selling technique of Rae Black as she disposed of Mexican flags for the Lionettes.

...Enjoyed the stage routines of Fiesta chairman Sam Brandt and Elizabeth Hoisington... sympathized with the flood at the Plaza Linda that delayed the Women's Club fashion show... followed the children who dogged the heels of Senor Pickpocketero ... and coveted the Peruvian Paso stallion ridden in the parade by J.A. Gavitt ... "Salud, Fiesta de los Amigos!"

Latest in the long line of members of the diplomatic corps seeking the restful seclusion of the Holman Guest Ranch were Charlotte and Donald Stokes of London, who are with the British Consulate in San Francisco.

When the SS American Planter sailed from San Francisco to Seattle, the captain's lady, Florence Galloway of Calle de Quien Sabe, was on board.

Florence was given permission to sail with Harry and found this, her first voyage most enjoyable. During on of the stops along the way, Peter O'Malley who heads the Dodgers farm team, the Spokane baseball team, visited the ship. O'Malley, son of Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers, presented the Valley couple with box seats for the Seattle-Spokane game. In turn, Capt. Galloway presented O'Malley with a crew discharge certificate designating him as "Assistant Pilot and Advisor in all matters pertaining to baseball!"

Georgia, the Galloway's daughter returns to school at Long Beach State soon filled with memories of an exciting summer spent in Europe.

After attending the summer session in Spain at the University of Valencia sponsored by the University of San Francisco she toured Europe and visited relatives. Their son, Bryon, received his degree from the University of Nevada in June and is presently on active duty with the Army at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz.

BRIDGE CLUB

The Carmel Valley duplicate bridge tournament held during Fiesta Week at the Community Center by the Valley Bridge Club resulted in a first place tie between the John E. Van Laanens and Mrs. Carl L. Bethea and her partner, Maurice Stoney. Winners of third place were Mrs. Mary Angier and Mrs. Trulee Ricketts.

Winners from the Aug. 22 meeting of the Valley Bridge Club were Mrs. Olga Frobisher and Mrs. Margaret Moore in first place; Mrs. Boyd Huff and Mrs. M.L. Stoney in second place, and David Partridge and Jeff Hudelson in third place.

Del Monte Center holds grand opening tomorrow

SHOWN HERE is one of nearly 100 huge oak trees preserved on the 47-acre site of Del Monte Center, Monterey's $15 million regional shopping center, which is set to open officially on Thursday, Sept. 14. The 408,000-square foot shopping facility, built and owned by Dillingham Construction Corp. on 47 acres leased from Del Monte Properties Co., will open with 71 stores and specialty shops of nearly every type. Major tenants include a two-floor, 158,000-square foot Macy's department store, Roos/Atkins, Wells Fargo Bank, and Lucky Market, plus about 70 other stores. Free parking space is available to accommodate over 2,600 cars. A total of $350,000 was invested in landscaping directed by Lawrence Halprin. (Julian P. Graham Studio Photo)

In the 1870's, David Jacks acquired all the public lands of Monterey in payment of a $1,000 debt, or roughly 12 cents an acre. In 1878, he sold a 7,000-acre land parcel to Charles Crocker for $5.00 an acre – a profit of more than 3,000 per cent.

Samuel F.B. Morse, present board chairman of Del Monte Properties Co., purchased another 1,400 acres from the Jacks Corporation in 1937. This acquisition included the area from the Salinas Highway to the land now occupied by Del Monte Center. It also included the Del Monte Golf Course, which is the oldest golf course in the west.

In the 1950's, Morse conceived the idea for a shopping center on a portion of this property, and in 1959, it was zoned for a community-sized center of 150,000 square feet.

In the course of negotiations, major department store interest appeared, and it was determined to build a regional shopping center on the property, instead of the smaller, community-sized center.

A.G. Michaud, president of Del Monte Properties Co., was the person responsible for obtaining the required zoning for the enlarged center.

Michaud, then vice president of The Draper Companies, faced considerable opposition during the early planning, but after a series of public hearings by Monterey city officials, he succeeded in demonstrating a need for a regional shopping facility.

As a result, the necessary zoning was approved in March, 1963, and the center expanded from 32 acres to its present 47-acre size.

Of six department stores interested in locating there, it was decided that Macy's would be most suitable for the trade area. In December, 1964, a lease and site plan were agreed upon with Macy's.

Site work and grading began in the spring of 1965.

On June 30, 1966, the ground lease was assigned to Dillingham Construction Corp., and building construction commenced on Aug. 1, 1966.

Many special activities open Macy's

Macy's Monterey in the new Del Monte Center will open at noon on Thursday, Sept. 14. The new Monterey store is the eleventh Macy store in California.

Music, entertainment, fashion shows and special events are planned for the gala opening and following week.

Fall fashions take the spotlight on opening day. Two in-

Kim's of Waikiki represents dream that's come true

"Our dream has been to live on the Monterey Peninsula," declared Ila Kim of Kim's of Waikiki, opening in the Del Monte Center, "and our shop followed selection of this as our home port."

She is a writer and former psychology teacher, and she and her husband, Joshua, are also veterans of the apparel business. They still own and operate "The Sweater Pagoda" in Honolulu.

Their new shop here will feature Italian knit suits and ensembles, jeweled jackets and shells from Hong Kong and, of course, exclusive Hawaii lines, including Shaheen and Baha-Kea and Chinese Cheongsams.

Introducing Anne Franoise

Anne Francoise Bathiat is one of Carmel High School's new pupils this year. Although there are a number of new faces, Anne has the distinction of having just arrived from Paris as the CHS American Field Service student. The James Harkins family will be her hosts during her year of study in this country.

After her flight from Paris, and two days in New York, Anne joined some of the over 3,000 American Field Service international students in a four-day bus trip across the country. The AFS exchange pupils from 60 countries will be living in over 2,800 communities this year.

Anne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Bathiat of Croix, France. Croix is in the province of Nord in the northern part of France. She is the third child in a family of seven and attended school at the "Institution Jeanne d'Arc" in Roubaix.

She is an accomplished equestrienne and enjoys both sailing and swimming, three sports which are high on the popularity list of Peninsula residents.

Anne Francoise was met in San Francisco by Mr. and Mrs. Harkins and her two "American sisters," Betsy and Cassie Harkins, both students at Carmel High.

During her year in Carmel, many aspects of America, customs, ideals, interests and problems, will become familiar to her. In exchange, Anne Francoise will enrich the horizons of those who know her by telling of life in her country.

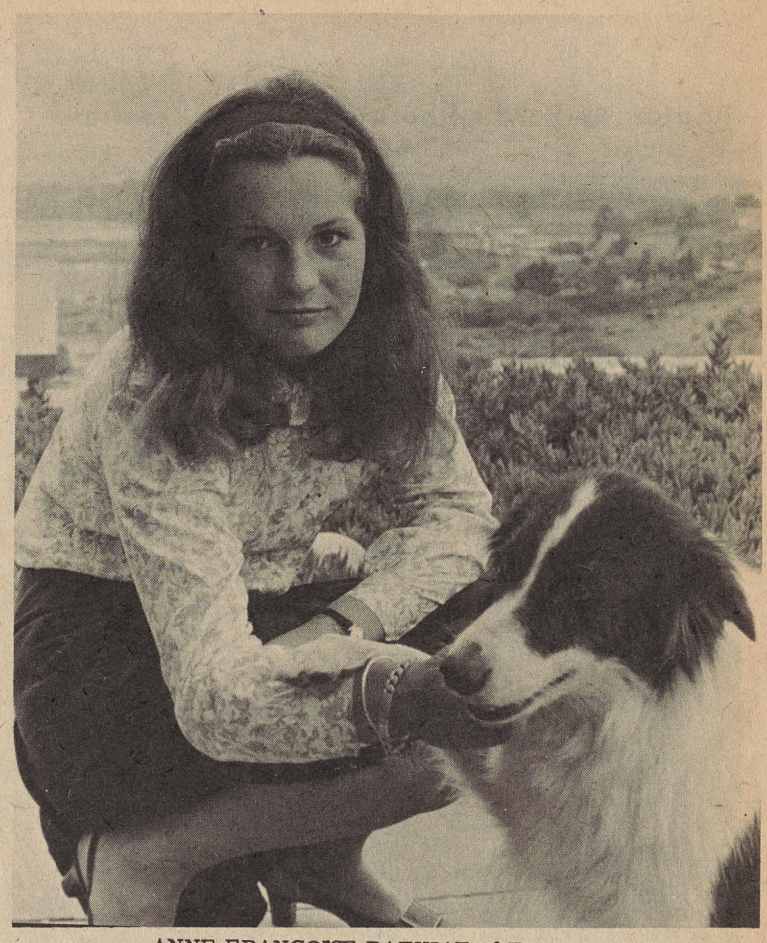

Called "Fafou" by her friends, Anne Francoise will be available in December to speak to service clubs and other organizations interested in the AFS Scholarship program.

With its participation in the American Field Service program, Carmel High School may name two students to enter a national competition for placement in a home abroad.

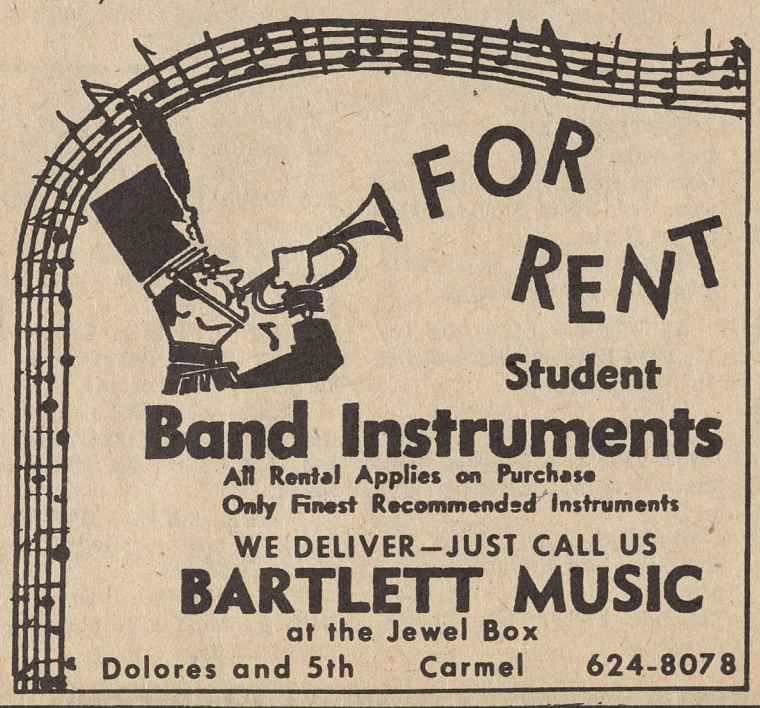

Jim Buzaid, son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Buzaid, was selected by the New York staff and will spend the school year with the Ake H. Ahlstrom family in Sweden. The Ahlstroms live in Djursholm, about five miles from Stockholm.

By maintaining a two-way program, the young people learn to respect and understand the similarities and differences of people who live in other countries, but who have the same dreams and goals.

Groups interested in hearing Anne Francoise may make arrangements through Mrs. Phyllis Calley, American Field Service, Box 600, Carmel High School.

Mrs. Don Laird representing Bowers Pharmacy in the Village recently attended the basic Elizabeth Arden Cosmetic School in San Francisco. Accompanied by her husband, Don, and Mrs. Maury Nessel, Mary returned to San Francisco Sept. 6 for a showing of "Northern Lights" by Mr. Roberts of Elizabeth Arden in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John Darch of Schulte Rd. recently had as their house guests Mr. Jerry Damon and his children, Gabriel 12, and Roland 8, of New York City. The voice of Mr. Damon, who is Olga's cousin, is familiar to NBC radio fans on the East Coast where he is an announcer.

The Damon family flew from New York to San Francisco. After touring the Bay area, they visited Yosemite before driving to the Valley. Following a week in the Los Angeles area they planned to fly to Mexico City and visit Acapulco

STORK SHOWER

Mrs. Anthony Davi was honored with a stork shower one evening recently when fifty friends and members of her family were invited to Lou's Casa Carmela by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Vincent Davi. Assisted by the honoree's mother, Mrs. John Castorini, Mrs. Davi had decorated the tables with clever nut cups fashioned into a diaper design by dipping material in wax. Pink and blue favors, baby swings made of tinted egg shells and pipe cleaners, were presented to the guests who were served petit pink and blue sandwiches, punch and cookies. Young ladies who assisted were the Misses Francesca Davi, Anna's sister-in-law, and her cousins, Christine Davi, Christine Bottaro, Laurie Jewell, and Kathy Schiarizzi.

Among the Valley residents making Canada their destination this summer were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Raymond of Calle de Ventana in Robles del Rio. After two weeks in Montana with their son, Fran and Paul crossed the border, visited a glacier, Calgary, camped at Lake Louise, Banff, the Canadian Rockies and drove home via Vancouver.

Mrs. Eddie Gueble accompanied by her daughter Stephanie flew to the Peninsula recently from their home in Los Angeles to visit her daughter, Joyce and family, the Bill Nelsons on Lower Circle. The family circle widened when Mr. Gueble drove from Los Angeles to join them and their son, Richard, who is stationed at Treasure Island arrived with his fiancee, Barbara Gould.

Also home on a weekend pass was Lt. Bill Nelson. The Valleyite is stationed at Mare Island where he is attending a guided missile school in Vallejo. In October he will board the USS Hoel in San Francisco for sea duty while Joyce and their two sons remain in the Valley.

Guests welcomed from Modesto for the Fiesta weekend at the Ernest Kufis home on Ford Rd. were Ernie's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. George Kufis.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gennaco of Brockton, Mass., attended the Sons of Italy convention in San Francisco and then drove to Carmel Valley for a visit with their niece, Mrs. Don Draper and family on Rancho Rd. Accompanied by their daughters, Kathy and Peggy, and Don's cousin, Mary Lousencer who has been a Valley guest for a month at the Draper home, Kaye and Don took their Eastern guests on a three day tour of Disneyland.

Wed in Reno

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE GIEM

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Currier announce the marriage of their daughter, Sue, to George Giem. The wedding took place in Reno, Nev., on Aug. 12. George is the son of Harry Giem of Carmel and Beatrice Vaughn of Carmel Valley.

George is studying to be a commercial pilot, receiving flight training from Commer-Aviation Service in Salinas and also attending classes at MPC.

The young couple is now residing in Monterey.

Garden setting for Grosskopf, Covell wedding

MR. AND MRS. DAVID COVELL

The garden of the Boronda Rd. home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Covell was the setting for their son David's wedding to Carol Lynn Grosskopf on Aug. 26.

Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Grosskopf of Millbrae.

A white runner was placed from the porch of the Covell home to a kneeling bench under an arch formed by two great sycamore trees, with 85 guests seated on either side of the outdoor aisle. Rev. Elmer W. Roy officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

The bride's gown was a floor length A-line gown of organza and re-embroidered Florentine lace. A Watteau train bordered in lace fell from under the bolero styled bodice. A cluster of organza roses with lace and seed pearls held the illusion veil. Carol carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids.

Mrs. L. James Manwaring of Santa Rosa, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Peter W. Sandholdt of Pacific Grove. Both wore matching street length cage gowns of white coin dot lace over pink taffeta.

Best man was Peter Sandholdt with John Berquist, of Seaside, and the bride's brother, Airman 2nd Class E. James Grosskopf serving as ushers.

The bridegroom's sister, Margaret Covell, a Carmel High student was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's mother was dressed in pink silk shantung and wore a green cymbidium orchid. The bridegroom's mother chose an avocado worsted silk ensemble and pinned a maroon cypripedium orchid to the jacket.

A reception was held in the sunroom of the Covell home following the wedding. Yellow gladioli and white stock set the color scheme. A four-piece combo provided music for dancing in the patio.

The bride is a graduate of San Jose State with a major in psychology and will receive her teaching credential in January.

The bridegroom received his B.S. in psychology from San Jose State and is currently working on his master's degree.

A large group of young friends saw the newlyweds off at the airport and then returned to join 50 other guests for a buffet supper in the Covell patio.

Porters revise proposal to aid Community Center

The proposal forwarded by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter for possible development of the 22-acre Robles del Rio golf course property with profits to benefit the Community Center, has been revised somewhat because of zoning regulations that have been effected since the property was deeded to the property owners.

Originally, the Porters had suggested subdividing into 30 3/4-acre lots, but they have found that the one-acre zoning applies to the Robles meadow as well as the rest of the Valley, since it was not zoned for building sites prior to the more recent zoning.

Mrs. Porter told The Outlook, "We want to help Carmel Valley and get the Community Center on its feet. There is no thought of profit involved.

"Because of this," she continued, "if the proposal is accepted by shareholders in the Water Co., we would deed the property to the trust department of an appointed bank to administer, not accepting a cent of profit ourselves with the net realization given to the Center and the shareholders in Robles del Rio."

Originally they had estimated that $300,000 might be realized by subdividing the meadow and selling the lots. With the one acre limitation, they visualize 18 one-acre or more sites, selling at approximately $12,500, giving a gross profit of $225,-000.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter estimated expenses involved in development as follows: Survey charges, $5,000; Bank charges at 1 1/2 to 2%, $4,000; Commissions to brokers (any and all invited, $17,000; Title insurance, $3,000; making a total of $29,000 plus. Return on shares to Robles del Rio property owners would amount to approximately $50,000 (which includes the existing amount of bonds), leaving an estimated $146,000.

Mrs. Porter said she thought shareholders would receive two or three hundred dollars for their shares.

She added that although her husband had not progressed with the idea to the point of surveying lots, he had a mental picture of tentative divisions which would not be in proximity to existing dwellings, or new ones.

Reviewing the desperate need of the Carmel Valley Community Center for money, Mrs. Porter said that they thought this might be a solution that would be of benefit to the entire Valley.

She also added that many Robles residents did not know of the existence of two other park areas which had been deeded to the property owners at the same time.

One, adjacent to the Louis Moore property on Lower Circle, had originally been developed as a recreational area. At that time there was a bathhouse (which has since been converted into a residence), swings, a spring board at the deep swimming hole, picnic tables and benches, and sandboxes for youngsters. In time, however, the facilities were destroyed by vandalism and not replaced.

The second piece is even less known. It is also on the river, next to the Jack and Marge Nielson property on Del Rio Rd. There is an easement to it.

However, Mrs. Nielson said that the original piece was about 150 feet long and quite wide, but the river has taken so much of the land with it in recent years that is now only about 15 feet wide.

New cleaning business at mid-valley

Cliff Munker has established a hospital and janitorial supply service.

Joanne Sears, who formerly maintained two shops in the Village, Joanne's Sportswear and Joanne's Boutique, has consolidated the two in the larger shop next to Bowers Pharmacy.

The new Tierra Grande dry cleaning establishment in the Carmel Valley Shopping Center at mid-Valley is grand opening now. It is located between Kearn's Restaurant and Steinmetz Pharmacy. Services offered include dry cleaning, laundry, alterations, shoe repair and free delivery throughout the Valley.

Owners are Mr. and Mrs. Don Middleton, who live nearby on Tierra Grande Dr. They have two children, Stephen 6 and Margaret 3. They also own the Arnold Palmer Dry Cleaning in the new Del Monte Shopping Center, Monterey.

Listen to Carmel Valley news every Thursday morning at 10:30 over radio station KIDD, with Outlook editor Ginnie Drew reporting.
